

Preparing for Next Generation Security Leader Opportunities

Francis D'Addario, Security Executive Council Emeritus Faculty,

Francis D'Addario

Emeritus Faculty, Security Executive Council

Francis D'Addario leads the Security Executive Council's Security 2020™ and Next Generation Leadership initiatives. Previously, his cross-functional teams developed proven practices at Starbucks Coffee, Hardees Food Systems, Jerrico Inc. The Southland Corporation (DBA 7-Eleven) and Crime Prevention Associates. He is a co-developer of RED, an enterprise risk event reporting and analytics tool.

D'Addario is an accomplished all-hazards risk mitigation practitioner and strategy leader. His influence and vision are credited with measured results for anomaly detection, asset recovery, business continuity, compliance, cost avoidance, crime prevention, information protection, investigations, operational auditing, policy governance, profit contribution, supply chain quality assurance and team engagement. His executive committee experience includes Audit, Compliance, Governance and Information Security.

His cross-functional protection and profit improvement methodologies have been featured by America's Most Wanted, Christian Science Monitor, CNN, CSO, ISO Focus, New York Times, Security Management, and The Wall Street Journal. Audited risk reduction and profit improvement results include 50 – 90 percent category casualty improvements and cost avoidance with estimated annual net contribution up to $26 Million (USD) after security cost. Francis has an Editorial Board appointment to LP Magazine and has also served in volunteer leadership positions with ASIS, McGruff House, and The West Seattle Food Bank throughout his career.

Professional recognitions include Security's "Most Influential", CSO's "Compass", The National Food Service Security Council's "Lifetime Achievement awards and Jerrico Inc's "Manager of the Year". Team Citation honors: Operations' "Most Valuable Distributed Support Service" and "Super Spirit of Starbucks" for business continuity leadership following Seattle's Nisqually Earthquake and global headquarters evacuation/relocation.

Francis' publications include Not a Moment to Lose: Influencing Global Security One Community at a Time (Security Executive Council, 2009)

Performance Criteria for Next Generation Security Leaders

- Align Board Level Risk and business mitigation strategy
- Deliver performance measures and metrics
- Influence community preparedness and resilience for emerging global risks
- Manage information protection, breaches and situational intelligence
- Add business value with mission assurance and P&L performance
- Run security as a business
- Govern compliance and social responsibility for brand equity
- Transfer risk awareness mitigation competence
- Build strategic brand alliances and community
- Apply proven practices and solution innovations
- Manage extreme risks
- Assess your next generation leaders and services
- Achieve all-hazard preparedness for resilience
- Add value beyond mission
- Manage and influence uncertainty for confidence
- Define and deliver operational excellence

Operational Excellence

Security Operational Excellence is a byproduct of continuous risk assessment, analysis and mitigation improvements. It enables protections for people, assets, critical processes and brand. Measured results often optimize strategic plan performance and resilience.

Communicate All-hazards Risk, Mitigation, and Deliver Performance Metrics

Management and board members make critical decisions based on a host of spreadsheets, graphs and trend lines. Effective, actionable risk management requires disciplined analysis. Understanding the data to identify risks and tell a compelling story of injuries, losses, damages and costs avoided is our objective. Tell your story of value contribution.

Run Security as a Business

Knowing your business and its level of readiness for your strategies, communicating with and influencing internal customers, demonstrating how and where security resources are being used and adding value to the organization is essential.

For More Information:

This is an excerpt from a Security Executive Council Proven Practice, Preparing for Next Generation Security Leader Opportunities .

Preparing for Next Generation Security Leader Opportunities is a narrated audiovisual presentation that covers :

- Security leader selection
- How skill requirements are evolving
- Aligning mitigation strategies for evolving and residual risks
- Performance criteria for next generation security leaders
- Adding business value with mission assurance and P&L performance
- Managing information protection, breaches and situational intelligence

The full proven practice presentation can be purchased at:

http://store.elsevier.com/product.jsp?locale=en_US&isbn=9780128009208